Think wind energy?
Think beck.

Legal advisers for the renewable energy industry.

Think capital investment? We leave no issue unresolved.

What has to be taken into account when developing, financing, purchasing or selling renewable energy projects?

What impacts will the EEG have on my project?

What are the pitfalls found in contracts?

What needs to be legally considered in direct marketing?

Investing in renewable energies presents opportunities as well as an increasing range of challenges. To successfully cope with them we provide you with expert knowledge and a hands-on mentality, especially when it comes to:

- + Structuring and implementation of acquisition and disposal processes
- + Legal due diligence to identify risks and assess them
- + Analysis and solutions regarding project development and business operations
- + Optimization and coverage of existing projects
- + Assistance concerning legal challenges within financing and rescheduling

Our renewables-team's cutting-edge expertise, experience and its ability to come up with pragmatic and practice-oriented solutions is gathered from various projects totaling more than 1 GW. Additionally, your investment project will profit from our extensive network which covers all branches of the renewables sector.

Think market entry? We leave no question unanswered.

Which legal form is the most suitable for my purposes?

What needs to be considered when hiring staff or renting offices?

What are the relevant business networks in the German renewable energy sector?

Which permits will I need?

What has to be taken into account in terms of distribution?

Entering the German market means facing a range of regulations and special legal issues. We facilitate your business success with our experts and experience, especially in terms of:

- + Choosing the right corporate form
- + Applying for all relevant permits and registering at the appropriate authorities
- + Drafting and validating all relevant contracts such as employment agreements and lease contracts
- + Choosing, drafting and validating the right types of distribution contracts such as those for sales and trade representatives
- + Providing contacts to tax consultants, banks, insurance companies, real-estate agents etc.
- + Recommending industry networks and other industry relevant institutions

Over the past 20 years we have helped hundreds of companies to successfully locate their business in Germany. By finding an individual answer to every question our attorneys continue to contribute to the success of many more market entries. If you look forward to founding your business in Germany, we look forward to answering your questions.
